■ Simplify the complicated, enhance the benefits

Caresia products are standard size bandage liners that are great for the active phase of therapy. Eliminate layers of foam with a Caresia sleeve, glove or bootie and wrap over the top with short-stretch bandages to break up tissue fibrosis and move fluid. The chipped foam in the garments' channels help disperse irregular pressure from patients bandaging themselves as well as diffuse pressure points at the wrist bone, ankle bone, and the crease of the elbow.

Our Caresia arm sleeves have been so well received that we've not only enhance the Caresia product line, we've expanded it. Garments are now made from a supple, comfortable fabric that is more durable and easy to launder.

Our arm sleeves have been redesigned to fit better and move fluid more effectively. We've added features to our footwear that make them easier to don. And we've added half-leg garments.

Half leg Caresias come in short, average and long, small medium and large. See the sizing chart attached to this e-mail for more information.

If you have any questions, comments or suggestions regarding our Caresia product line, please let us know. We love to hear from you.
